PROLOGUE

Out of the mist of many years
These slender figures come.
Gay they were as you and I,
Gay and happy and young

These same walls heard their laughter,
These same walls saw their tears;
And within embody traditions
Whose worth increases with passing years

FACULTY AND OFFICERS

To the faculty and officers of Saint Mary's School we wish to express our gratitude and appreciation for the help and guidance they have kindly given us throughout the year. Their friendship and coöperation will long be treasured by the Class of '36.

SENIOR POEM

With the flight of the swallow
We glimpse the silver-streaked dawn
That heralds the approach of sun-lit years
Whose light reflects vistas of well-trod paths:
Paths of hope and happiness,
Paths of ambition and attainment,
Perhaps of sorrow,
But surely of beauty and of grandeur.

As we stand momentarily in the shadows of the new day
To look back,
We sigh a little for the years that are past,
But not for long—
Before us lies the knowledge of the centuries,
A way of adventure,
The fever of fresh thought,
And the seething energy to build anew
The fervent castles of ourselves.

MARY RICHARDSON.

While searching to refresh my mind as to the happenings of the past two years, my eye falls on a diary lying on the desk—anonymous, it seems—and on the first page inscribed: "Left to Posterity for Future Reference—by a Senior." Just the thing to tell me what has happened these two years. Let me read you a few of the most interesting and typical pages.

She begins: "September 11, 1934. At Saint Mary's today. I didn't cry when Mother left. Waited around all afternoon to get my schedule. Didn't see a single person I knew.

"September 12. Felt a little homesick today. Didn't sleep much last night on account of mosquitos. No screens in the windows—it seems they're being painted. Went to assembly, chapel, and classes today. Met lots of new girls.

"September 15. Old-Girl-New-Girl Party tonight. Everybody milling around and not remembering anybody's name. Good food."

And thus the routine started; still there were the high spots. I flip the pages of the diary, and my eyes fall on certain days that were outstanding—days that the writer will always remember.

Let us skip to December 8. "Senior dance tonight. Of course it was for the Seniors only, but a bunch of us sat on the Fire Escape and nearly froze listening to Poyner's music, and wishing we were in there dancing.

"December 16. So excited about going home for the holidays. Only three more days, with the Christmas dinner the night before we leave—they say it's going to be wonderful—and a pageant given by the Seniors in the Chapel to take up a little time. We're planning to stay up all night the night before we leave and play 'Santa Clans'."

Perhaps it would be better not to mention the holidays, since every one of us has her own version of that. But let us return to January 3, about which day our Senior remarks:

"Got back to school and found that I had left my closet key at home. Hated to come back, but maybe I can get some sleep now.

"January 22. Exams started today, and they were awful. We sat up 'till one-thirty last night studying in the closet. Nearly suffocated.

"March 2. Junior-Senior tonight. It was wonderful—I've never had more fun. They played "Stardust" for the Junior no-break. Thank Goodness the family came across with some flowers.

"March 14. Home for Spring Holidays!"
(That speaks volumes!)

"May 11. May-day was held out on the lawn today and it was beautiful, and on the whole a big success.

"May 28. Home at last! Graduation was lots of fun in one way, but I hate to think of next year without some of the Seniors, but then I suppose it is our job to take their places."

Home—Beach—House parties—Dances—All one glorious summer. Then September, and a second year at Saint Mary's begins. To go back to our diary, on September 17, I read:

"Back to school a day early. Refurnished my room with all the good furniture that I could find. Met millions of new girls and jabbered with fond parents. 'Referred' thirteen new girls to the 'little store.'

"September 21. Peddled books all over school today. Had excellent 'bull session' tonight. Rehearsed all we did during the summer. Senior privileges are wonderful!

"November 15. Excitement over Duke-Carolina game—practically everybody in school has put up a bet on one side or the other. Well, we shall see tomorrow."
(We won't get started on that!)

"December 7. Senior dance tonight. I thought the Junior-Senior dance was wonderful, but it couldn't compare to this one.

"December 19. Home for Christmas holidays. Up at two-thirty this morning. Caroled, and had floating breakfast. Everybody left as early as possible to get a good start for the holidays!"
(Our Senior says nothing of exams. I suppose she was too busy to write.)

"March 17. Back from Spring Holidays. We're on the last lap now. We made a new calendar of the days 'till June 2, but we aren't so enthusiastic about calendars now as we were last year.

"March 20. Spring is here at last, and personally I think we deserve a great amount of it after the winter we've had.

"April 17. Junior-Senior dance tonight. I can't realize it's our last dance here, but it was a fitting climax.

"May 31. Baccalaureate Sermon. Assumed all the dignity in my cap and gown that I've been trying since September to acquire."

Thus ends our anonymous diary; as for the place of today, June 1, in the history of the Senior Class, I suppose you will have to draw your own conclusions!

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE SENIOR CLASS OF '36

On this, the first day of June 1936, we, the Senior Class of Saint Mary's School, do hereby solemnly will and bequeath the following articles:

Art. 1. Mary Barrow wills her pull with the faculty to Hunt Hardinge.

Art. 2. Jane Yelverton and Margaret Coleman will to Rosemary White their knack for saying nice things.

Art. 3. Betty Redfern and Mary Richardson will their friendship to Tatie Gossett and Frances Smith.

Art. 4. Mary Green bequeaths to Mary Carter Whitehurst her ability to shine on each and every occasion.

Art. 5. Jane Ivey wills Mr. Moore's interest in her to that blushing damsel, Lucile Aycock.

Art. 6. Barbara (Baby-Duck) Harris wills her interest in the men to Lydia Pollock with the suggestion that she try those fascinating eyelashes.

Art. 7. Miss Tash bequests to Betty Farrar her position in the Tucker household.

Art. 8. Gertie Webb leaves all the answers to Jessie Skinner. P.S. "To him that hath shall be given."

Art. 9. Sarah Brown bequeaths State College to Clara Bond Anderson.

Art. 10. Georgie Dando bequeaths to Janet Lawrence the position of being the last of a long family line.

Art. 11. Rosemary Horne leaves Mr. Kroman to the Junior Bible Class.

Art. 12. Ann Seoggin wills to the next Student Body President her ability to overawe the little girls.

Art. 13. Edna Hewitt leaves to Vida Barnwell her ability to disturb the Library.

Art. 14. Geraldine Cox bequeaths her ability to take life easy to Miss Davis with hopes that it will alleviate her over-worked condition.

Art. 15. Emily Wescott leaves her seat in Brantley's to Dotty Sparkes.

Art. 16. Jo Gribbin leaves her letters to Mary Wood Winslow with the suggestion that next year she rent three boxes instead of the present two.

Art. 17. Maria Tucker leaves her quiet way to Sally Foard MacNider.

Art. 18. Margaret Long leaves her neat hair to Margaret Caperton.

Art. 19. The Senior Class leaves its love for the school to the Junior Class to carry on the old traditions of fun and friendship, love and loyalty.

OLIVE CRUIKSHANK

Our versatile Junior Class President can also distinguish herself as a basketball star, and an artist extraordinary. Olive goes quietly on her way, but the results of her efforts make us all look up with a start.

POLLY EASLEY

Polly's quiet grace and charm fuse into a dignity that is worthy of her intellect; an ensemble so enviable that it defies the phrases which should portray a vivid, memorable personality.

GEORGIE DANDO

Georgie is, regrettably, the last of the splendid Dondo Tradition, which she has enriched immeasurably by her complete affability and keenly penetrating humor that has lightened the shadows of many a classroom and enlivened the dull hours of evening study. May she never change!

MARGARET JAMIESON

Sincere friendliness, dependability, beauty, and acting ability. Here's to Margaret, who combines all these into one. She will be long remembered by all Saint Mary's.

RUTH LONG

Beauty and Brains! And with all, a charm and a grace that is so peculiarly hers.

LOUISE BRYAN

The President of the Mu's and the best-all-round girl in school. To Louise, good in sports, in grades, in cracking funny jokes, and in making friends, we give a hand.

ANN SCOGGIN

That dignity so appropriate for Student Body meetings is accompanied by a foolishness made for "after light" sessions. With the poise we all want, Ann never seems to wander what to do.

ADELAIDE WINSLOW

Adelaide's ability to take part in all activities and win first place on the Honor Roll and elsewhere indicates the obvious—she is tops at St Mary's.

EPILOGUE

The picture fades
In the evening shades,
And the figures disappear.
But nothing can take our memories
Of friendships and ideals form'd here.
These will live long after
The others fade from view;
For nothing can take from us
The happiness that we knew.

BUILDERS DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to cooperate with the staff in creating their vision into material form.

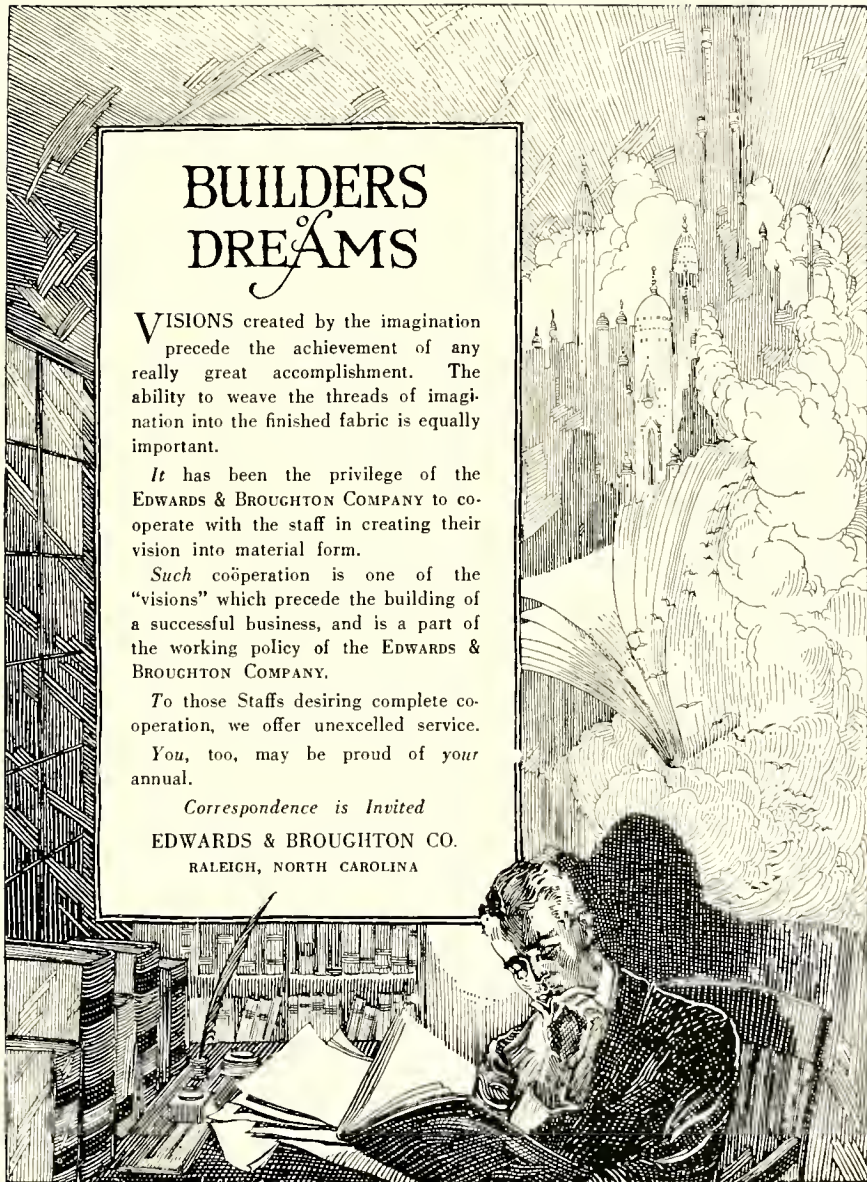

Such coöperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

To those Staffs desiring complete cooperation, we offer unexcelled service.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
